Cachematrix Names Former HSBC Executive as Senior Manager of Security and Infrastructure

Firm bolsters security team to meet growing demand for trading technology

December 7, 2010 -- Cachematrix (www.cachematrix.com), the leading provider of institutional money market fund trading technology for banks and financial institutions, announced today that it has appointed Trent Fox in a newly created role as Senior Manager of Security and Infrastructure.

In this position, Fox is responsible for implementing, securing and integrating Cachematrix's trading portal environment. Fox brings more than 18 years of experience in the areas of technology and banking, product management, program management, and security design and implementation.

Prior to joining the Cachematrix team, Fox served as Vice President of Security and Risk Management at HSBC North America Holdings, where he was instrumental in building the security and risk management programs at the Bank. Previously, he held senior leadership roles in network infrastructure and application development at Rockwell Automation and Automatic Data Processing, as well as co-founding a startup application service provider.

Fox brings with him experience in providing global strategic leadership direction related to application and system security risk assessment, standards and best practices. In addition, Fox is highly skilled in driving efficiencies at high growth firms.

"Trent Fox brings 18 years of executive level security and infrastructure experience to Cachematrix and we are pleased to have him join our team," said Cachematrix Founder and CEO, George Hagerman. "Portal security and protection of our client's information is of the highest priority for Cachematrix. This level of emphasis on security has been instrumental in the success of our firm and the addition of Trent solidifies this principle."
