

CACHEMATRIX

Cachematrix Names Kevin Ancell Head of Global Operations

DENVER, December 8, 2015 -- Cachematrix, the leading provider of trading technology and financial software development for banks and financial institutions, announced today that it has appointed Kevin Ancell as Global Head of Operations.

In this newly created executive position, Ancell will be charged with establishing and implementing Cachematrix's corporate objectives around company resource management and enterprise-wide initiatives, while also managing technical operations for the company's client relationships.

Prior to his current position, Kevin spent 10 years in senior management positions at Cachematrix building teams and systems around partner implementations. This included Vice President and Director roles in project management, business analysis, client relations and technical operations.

Before joining Cachematrix, Kevin spent more than 12 years gathering a wealth of technology, operations and service experience at financial services companies. At Janus Funds, he functioned in two main capacities: managing business intelligence and leading strategic service programs. Kevin also worked for Oppenheimer Funds in various transfer agent management positions.

"Kevin Ancell's hard work and leadership has been a pivotal factor in our success over the past decade," said Cachematrix CEO, Dave Agostine. "This expanded role for Kevin allows him to deliver positive impacts in a broader range of initiatives and key areas that are critical to our future growth and success."

About Cachematrix Holdings, LLC

Cachematrix is the leading "software as a service" (SaaS) provider of institutional trading systems for banks and financial institutions worldwide. Cachematrix enables banks and other financial services firms the ability to offer its corporate clients online access to a full suite of liquidity products through a convenient, single source platform for managing assets. For more information, visit www.cachematrix.com, or follow us at www.linkedin.com/company/cachematrix/

For Further Information Contact:

Jeremy Thomas

Cachematrix Holdings LLC

303-468-5500 x117

jeremy.thomas@cachematrix.com

