

Cachematrix's CacheSweep wins “Emerging Technology Solution” in Treasury Management International's 2017 Awards

Denver, CO – February 7, 2018 – Cachematrix's CacheSweep technology has been awarded the 2017 Emerging Technology Solution Award by Treasury Management International (TMI). Our achievements were recognized in a special feature issue of TMI Magazine released earlier this month.

Established over a decade ago, the TMI Awards for Innovation & Excellence recognize companies in the financial industry who are driving best practices and innovation in treasury management globally. Each award entry is judged by a panel of industry experts.

“We are honored to have Cachematrix's CacheSweep technology recognized by TMI,” said David Agostine, CEO of Cachematrix. “We believe this award is truly a testimony to Cachematrix's culture of innovation and demonstrates our ability to stay ahead of the needs of the continuously changing financial market environment.”

CacheSweep was developed after witnessing an increasing demand by corporate treasurers for powerful and intuitive sweep technology – one that allows the user to manage the entirety of their liquidity portfolio through Cachematrix's unified functionality. This functionality represents a leap forward from the currently manual task of sweeping excess cash into a single instrument. With CacheSweep, clients can control the composition, timing and compliance of their portfolio while building on Cachematrix's robust alerting and analysis functionalities.

The automated and advanced algorithm that powers CacheSweep seeks to reduce operating risks and enhance counterparty risk analysis and due diligence (e.g. use of risk parameters such as fund rating, counterparty limits, etc.) by automatically checking against the investment policy prior to affecting any sweep investment.
